WELCOME to the fourth edition of PRO.STATE of the art

Over the past 20 years the therapeutic landscape of advanced prostate cancer has dramatically evolved through the introduction of increasingly innovative therapeutic strategies. Just 20 years ago the introduction of docetaxel into clinical practice marked the beginning of this period of innovation, which has seen the arrival of agents capable of radically changing the life expectancy of patients with prostate cancer.

Since 2018, the year of its first edition, the meeting entitled PRO.STATE of the art was designed to follow this evolution by attempting to translate evidence from clinical trials into clinical practice, providing insights to guide decisions among the available therapeutic strategies. This was achieved through an original format that prioritized discussion among clinicians, taking advantage of the presence of recognized international experts.

Two years after the third edition, the fourth edition of PRO.STATE of the art, to be held in Trento on January 21 and 22, 2025, will continue this tradition, focusing on the latest innovations in the therapeutic field: evidence on the use of PARP inhibitors as monotherapy or in combination with ARSIs, the use of ARSIs in earlier stages of the disease and the application of radio-ligand therapy.

As always, leading national and international experts will be present. Outside the usual conference format, they will engage in discussions with each other and with meeting participants.
